

Richard Ned Lebow (left) is former director of the Mershon Center for International Security Studies at The Ohio State University. He spoke with Richard Herrmann, current director of the center, just before his talk on Feb. 18, 2008.

Richard Ned Lebow, James O. Freedman Presidential Professor of Government at Dartmouth College, speaks on "Forbidden Fruit: Counterfactuals and International Relations" on February 18, 2008, in the Spencer Room at Derby Hall. In his talk, Lebow discussed the use of counterfactuals, or "what if" statements, in comparative history and politics.